

Dear Business Owner

Introducing your Chesterfield town centre regeneration team

Our plans for the multi-million-pound regeneration of Chesterfield town centre and market place have been gathering pace over recent months – and our contractor for the scheme, Thomas Bow, has begun preparations ahead of the start on site on Monday 1 July.

We are writing to provide you with an update on the Revitalising the Heart of Chesterfield project along with contact details for the project team.

What's happening?

The town centre regeneration scheme is designed to improve the look, feel and flow of key public spaces in the town centre – and revitalise our much-loved outdoor market. It will include new market stalls, new or improved paving and upgraded lighting street furniture, like benches and signage.

Work will begin on the upper half of Market Place, and this area is currently being cleared to allow for works to start – once complete they will move on to the lower half of the square. Improvement work is also planned for New Square and Rykneld Square. The work is expected to take 18 months to complete.

Separately, G F Tomlinson will carry out improvements to Corporation Street to create a new gateway to the refurbished Stephenson Memorial Hall, which houses the Pomegranate Theatre and Chesterfield Museum.

Thomas Bow has considerable experience of working within these busy sensitive environments and during the construction period will look to minimise disruption to the surrounding businesses, residents and general public.

They will take a considerate approach, with any potential noisy works only undertaken during non-busy periods. They also have measures in place to limit noise and dust creation during the work.

But please do get in touch if you have any questions or concerns.
